4 QUALITY EDUCATION

Sustainable Development Goals

SDG 4: Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all.

Why is it important?

A human being is a lifelong learner, we say - but how does it look like in reality? The data differs from country to country, but there is a significant group of children who report difficulties in making friends and students who feel uncomfortable at school, which has a negative impact on their education. Adults, on the other hand, often rely only on what they have learned at school and are reluctant to return to learning once they have started their careers, although the dynamic situation on the labour market and technological progress make it necessary to constantly improve their qualifications.

We are facing more and more serious global challenges - in order to face them we need education that involves developing the competencies of critical thinking, openness and seeing different perspectives.

A good education shall deliver a balance of providing knowledge, building diverse competencies and creating interpersonal relationships. Thanks to the Internet, we have access to a treasury of free knowledge, but the ability to search for information and verify its source is crucial today.

DO YOU CREATE A LOCAL IMPACT ON INCLUSION AND EQUAL EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL? TAKE A TEST!
